Special Notices.

Crystal Palace Soirec .- A CARD TO THE PUBLIC The citizens of New York have been apprised of the confused yowing out of the misuanagement of the person who had charge f the Gentlemen's tist and Ladias' Charles. of the Gentlemen's that and Ladies' Cloak Rooms at the Crystal Palace, on the night of April 8; they have read the strictures passed upon the Committee of Management, and have very naturally found an opinion prejudicial to the latter; but when the intelligent public are correctly informed as to the facts of the case. the Committee feel confident that they will look upon the who dair in a far different light.

og the at all times difficult business of the Hat and Cloak Rooms same to the Committee highly recommended, and professed him will to be thoroughly convergant with the duties he proposed to rm, and the Committee, supposing him to be fully compa-hired him the privilege he sought. Congratulating them son se uning the services of a person so well recommended selves on securing the services of a person so well recommended, and securingly so competent, the Committee at once directed their attention to other matters pressing upon their time, and were first apprised of the insufficiency of hands employed, to perform the services required in the Hat and Clook departments, on the hight of the Soirce. They immediately set about recitifying the difficulty, by throwing as much help into these departments as they could pessibly produce, and would soon have bad the delivery of strickes conducted in a proper manner, had not the impatience of the rudest and most impetuous portion of the crowd thrown so many obstacles in their way, that all their well-directed efforts were, after a while, almost entirely thwarted. The result, and far more than the reality, has been published; but those who hard in more than the company, and provided to inconvenience, may rest have ruffered loss and been subjected to inconvenience, may rest assured that the Committee will do everything in their power to adjust all difficulties in a satisfactory manner.

Gentlemen were kept waiting three hours for their hats and coate at the Light Guard ball, but no one will pretend to say that the gentlemen who compose that superb and justly renowned corps were censurable for the trouble caused by the man who hired the bat room.

It is unnecessary to make any public statement contradicting rtion that "the wildest scene of excitement prevalled, he, as far as those present and such as they have since informed to the contrary are concerned, but the many who were not at the dice and have no reliable friends who were present, are assured that all such statements are gross exaggerations, and are only or some individual reason. For instance, one of the edi made for some individual reason. For instance, one of the core of a Sunday paper gave, as a caption to his string of falsehoods concerning the Soirée, this line: "The Hunter-Woods Ball Outroops" REASON—His application for a long advertisement, similar to the one in The Dispatch, was disregarded. And so half a desen instances of a like nature could be named, but, in due course of time, an account of those mulicious misstatements and course of the lad to them will be forthorming. fluences that led to them will be forthcoming.

It has been charged that spirituque liquors were sold in great cantilles. This point is easily met. At the Academy of Music, and other places where large balls are given, there are frequently two bars in full operation—it is almost always so at the Ac -and when it is remembered that the Crystal Palace is eight times as large as the Academy, and yet had only two bar-rooms open on the night of the Noiree, the public can easily draw a ra-tional inference as to the extent of the hyperbole indulged in by she superlative and expletive style of writers.

Had there been no spirituous liquors sold within the Palace, the streams of perpie contantly passing out and returning would have caused the greatest confusion. The Committee were not competent to perform a zask which all the law-makers in the land and all the influence of all the advocates of total abstinence comand all the influence of all the advocates of total abathence com-bined have failed to accomplish. Wherever there are five hun-dred or five thousand people gathered together at public enter-tainments, similar to those given at the Academy of Music and the one at the Crystal Palace, there will be a proportionate amount of drinking indulged in, and no human power, moral or coercive, can prevent it. We may deeply regret this, but such is the fact, themselves aggreeved by the loss of a hat or coat—a very common occurrence at balls. The highly exaggerated statements made by the excited informers were well calculated to deceive the editors, and the Committee, confident that such was the case, can only regret the consequence, but cannot censure the writers of such articles as were based upon deceptive information.

One thing is particularly remarkable, concerning those account of the alieged great disturbances which appeared after the regular reports furnished by the reporters of the Press. It has been said and with truth, by one of the leading journals, that the reporters left at an early hour, say I o'clock, and consequently could give no information of the hat-room difficulty, and sundry riotous scenes which, by the way, never occurred to the extent described. scenes which, by the way, nevrocaming the must have been de-Therefore, all information on these subjects must have been de-rived from hearsay, and in all probability from parties who self themselves aggreeved by the loss of a hat or coat—a very common.

Again—although the Committee gave to members of the Press a full and very liberal supply of complimentary tickets, they were continually beset by persons representing themselves as attables of this, that or the other offices and so numerous were these importunities, that they more resembled the locust awarms of Egypt than anything else we can liken them to, and to such as extent did they carry their demands that we were at last absolutely compelled to refuse a further supply. That many of these were impostors is most likely; but among the many there must have been some who had a degree of right to ask for tickets, and, is ling to precure them, took the first occasion that presented itself of venting their spleen upon the Committee, by poisoning the ears of their respectable employers with calcunnious reports. Such elemies as these, and many others whom the Committee were obliged to make, while in the discharge of their thankless and disagreeable duties, have had their revenue, such as its; for in no other way could the monstrously false accounts of disgrace-ful accuracy and to have occurred at the Palace, have originated. for scenes, said to have occurred at the Palace, have originated.
In justice to the Editors themselves, who have been misled by wicked and shamely se falsifiers, the Committee deem is proper to wick d and shameless falsifiers, the Committee deem it proper to enter into these patients; because, what will those thousands think of such misrs presentations finding their way into respect-tile journals who went away at 2, 3 and 3 o'clock in the morn-ing, totally uncouncious that any trouble whatever had occurred to The company at the Crystal Palace was mostly made up of a highly respectable class of people—ladies and gentlemen who conducted themselves with the utmost propriety, and evinced no dasp sition to wichte these conventional rules of society which are satzictly observed by the intelligent inhabitants of our city, se they are by the educated members of any community in the country.

As for the practical good accomplished by the "Hunter Woodis Henevolent Society," the precise amount, and what it cost, can be shown at any time. Having no salaried officers, and no wast building, with all the incidental expenses of such an establishment to sustain, it has had no other call upon its funds—of any consequence—than the payment for bread tickets redeemed by Mr. J. Hecker and others, who have fulfilled their engagements— Mr. J. Hecker and others, who have fulfilled their engagement, to the letter, by supplying the beneficiaries of the Society with fine, wholesome, sweet bread. Having at one time 30,000 bread tickets out among the poor of the city, the Society has kept Mr. Hecker very busy, but, owing to his great facilities and enterpoise, is at gentleman has managed to feed our beneficiaries, as well as to specify the regular suppression continue.

There are thousands who stand ready to testify, from actual cap rience, to the fact that, but for the apply of breat farmished then by the "Hunter Woodle Benevolent Society," they would have, affered severely for the want of food. The Society is doing a good work, and possesses alimity enough to entire the puerional tempt to of its enemies to injure its good name. Conscious o the rest tude of our aims and purposes, we shall continue in the mission we have undertaken, regardless of the uncharitableness, eavy and malice of those who, incapable themselves of performeavy and malice of those who, inespable themselves of performing sets of disintercetechees, cannot realize that there are those who are we ling to seffer great personal inconvenience for the propose of a cauting a large amount of comfort to the needy poor of this great unchappells.

SOMETHING NEW IN THE STRAW HAT TRADE.

STRAW HAT TRADE:

The undersigned would respectfully represent, that for some years pest they have appreciated the justice of the remarks made by the Trade while making their Spring purchases, vis: "That all new styles were introduced to late in the season, they were compelled to make their heaviest purchases without waiting thus pissing themselves under a disadvantage which the retailer and others who purchase later avoided, instead of glving them the opportunity of better selections from larger assortments, at prices to was rant their heavier purchases:" and while assenting to the force of such representations, the undersigned have also endeavoid to remedy the difficulty, so far as lies in their power. In furtherance of this desirable charge, they now invite special attention to the

EVERETT HAT. ombining in its manufacture NOVELTY OF DESIGN, ELEGANCE IN STYLE, and DURABILITY OF PABRIC.

The supply of these Hats is necessarily limited, owing to that late commencement of their manufacture in Italy, and as a consequence, the undersigned will, in a great measure, be obliged to receive orders in advance of delivery.
